Creating Jobs = Making Money in the New Economy

Georgia's 100 Main Street Cities are vibrant centers for small business job creation, generating over 2,700 net new downtown jobs in 2009, the equivalent of one KIA plant per year. Since 1980, over 47,000 jobs have been created in Georgia downtown Main Street districts with over $2.7B reinvested in cities under 50,000 in population. All this homegrown economic development has been made possible through the creative use of local investment and cutting-edge redevelopment financing tools.

In today's tough economic climate, redevelopment partners must take advantage of all available tools for creating and preserving jobs, supporting small business development and keeping Georgia's downtowns healthy. This workshop will provide case studies regarding Georgia's redevelopment financing tools which any Owner / Developer, Accountant, Attorney, and Banker / Redevelopment Financier would need to know.
