

Northeast Georgia Historic Preservation Commission Training

Friday, December 13th, 2019

9 a.m.– 4 p.m.

Athens, Georgia

This training is designed to help local Historic Preservation Commissions, Staff, or interested elected officials better understand their roles and responsibilities. This training has been vetted by the Georgia Historic Preservation Division and will fulfill the training requirements of the Certified Local Government Program for all attendees.

Sessions:

9:15 a.m.– The Intersection of State HP Legal Requirements and Local HP Ordinances
UGA's James Reap and Assistant ACC Attorney Michael Petty explore what the state enabling legislation requires of local HP programs and where local regulations can put their own spin on things.

10:30 a.m.– Local HPC Procedures for COA Administration
Gainesville's Jessica Tuller, Madison's Ken Kocher, and Social Circle's Tom Brown lead a panel discussion exploring the ways different jurisdictions accomplish the procedural side of local historic preservation programs including staff review, HPC review, inspection and enforcement.

Lunch Break On Your Own: Many local restaurants with a variety of menus options are within easy walking distance.

1:30 p.m.– HP Survey Considerations– What is Considered Historic Today and Planning for Tomorrow
The Find It program's Laura Kviklys explains the importance of a survey program, how what is considered historic has changed over the years, and how your survey program today can plan for your city's tomorrow.

2:45 p.m.– Status Symbols: The Impact of Contributing Status on Design Review
UGA's Jennifer Lewis explains how contributing status impacts the outcome of design review decisions and what your Design Guidelines can do to help.

Pre- Registration RSVP required by Friday, December 6th and $5 registration fee due on arrival. Cash or check only.

RSVP to amber.eskew@accgov.com or call Amber at 706-613-3515.

All training sessions will be held at the Planning Department Auditorium at 120 W. Dougherty Street.

Metered on-street parking is available nearby and a parking deck is available three blocks away at 125 W. Washington Street.